THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.
A Delightful Excursion to Our Sister City—Our Young People Enjoy the Interesting Social Event.

A large number of our young people have looked forward to the interesting social event which took place at Iola, Wednesday evening, with as much interest as the Iolians themselves, and the enjoyment of those who went over on the excursion demonstrated that they were not astray in their anticipations. At precisely 7:30 o'clock the following gentlemen and ladies boarded the extra train on the Wichita road, to wit: L. G. Neal and Nellie Boutelle, W. A. McDonald and Mell Sallee, O. S. Keyser and Mary Robbins, Joe Nelson and Maggie Davis, Charles Gelson and Allie Robbins, Ed. Voorhees and Mary Clark, Johnnie Ferguson and Kate Wilson, Bryant Davis and Annie York, Jed Durkee and Hattie Bell, Link Rucker and Minnie Prager, Frank Ware and Mary Smith, Lou Hoxie and Lizzie Farnsworth, James Hoxie and Minnie Henderson, Will Smith and Mattie Calhoun, Will Robbins, Charles McDonald, and M. Rothschild.

The train was in charge of Geary Neal, who demonstrated his capabilities as a railroad man by his careful attention to his duties. At Marmaton, the Messrs. Holmes and lady joined the party. At Bronson Mr. Charles Weir and sister made up the complement of the excursion. A rapid run of an hour and three quarters brought us to the end of our journey, and but a few minutes were lost in going to the scene of the festivities, in the new Opera House which, by the way, when entirely completed, would be a credit to a city of much greater pretensions than Iola. The hall was tastefully decorated in evergreen with the symbolic letters and other designs of the order and was filled with a refined and cultured company, among whom we noted Captain and Mrs. Stover, Mr. and Mrs. Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Perkins, Dr. Scott, Dr. A. Gifford, Mr. L. N. Kaufman, of the Garnett Platdealer, and his estimable lady, besides others whom we cannot now recall. Nothing the toilets of the ladies there was nothing elaborate or straining at effect. On the other hand, the simplicity, neatness and appropriateness of the costumes was at once pleasing and striking, and as the Monitor reporter saw our own gallant boys now basking in the smiles of some fair daughter of Iola and then proudly promading a blooming lass of our own city we were forcibly reminded of that perplexed individual, who in the direness of his extremity cried out "he would be happy with either dear charmer were either away." The hours rapidly sped while the tripping of the Quadrilles, Waltzes, and Scottisches, followed in rapid succession. Owing to the large number present, which could not have been much less than three hundred, it was impossible to have all to supper at one time. The difficulty was obviated by feeding the party at platoons of forty couple at a time, which was expeditiously and satisfactorily accomplished. Of the menu, there is nothing that can be said but praise. Mr. Fisher and his amiable daughters of the Pennsylvania Central Hotel, more than sustained their well earned reputation. The entire affair was complete success, both in the arrangement of the programme and its execution, and the committee who did the work are entitled to the gratitude and thanks of all.

At 21 o'clock the party from Fort Scott started on their return trip and landed at their home at the seasonable hour of 41 o'clock.—Fort Scott Monitor.

Last Act of the Tragedy.

Guiteau is to be hanged. Such is the sentence of the Court. His trial was one of the most remarkable in criminal jurisprudence. Dr. Ridpath, whose "Life and Work of Garfield" is the standard biography of the murdered President, has added to this great production a graphic and comprehensive record of the trial of the assassin, fully illustrated, and these two books form a splendid volume of 800 pages in which the grandeur and glory of Garfield's life are strangely contrasted with the infamy of his murderer. Published by Jones Brothers & Co., Cincinnati, Chicago, and Kansas City. The "Life and Trial of Guiteau" is also issued in a separate volume, well bound and sold at a very moderate price.

L. P. Follett, Marion, O., states that he has used Thomas' Electric Oil for burns, and has found nothing to equal it in soothing the pain and giving relief. For sale by R. B. Stevenson.

The ball and banquet at Iola on Wednesday evening is reported by those who went down from Colony as having been simply "immense." One hundred and forty tickets were sold, and parties were there from Garnett, Humboldt, Ft. Scott, Colony, and other neighboring towns and cities, and it was without doubt the "grandest event of the season." Colony Free Press.

It is said that Gov. St. John, the Topeka Capital and the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe railroad have joined hands for the purpose of putting the Governor in for a third term and running things by means of the prohibitory feeling in the state to split the wishes of the railroad people.

A few weeks ago the members of the Iola Lodge Knights of Pythias concluded that they would have a uniform ball, to break up the monotony of several weeks of hard work, to which they would invite their friends in and around Iola. A committee of arrangements was appointed, to whom were intrusted all the general details, and they were instructed to spare no pains or expense to make it a success. Two hundred invitations were issued.

Wednesday evening, the 16th inst., was the time agreed upon, and at an early hour the Iola Opera House, properly decorated and prepared, was filled with the beauty and chivalry of Iola, and the invited guests from other places. Promptly at 8 o'clock the members of the order at Iola and elsewhere met at their castle hall and donning uniforms were soon ready to open the ball. As the procession reached the Opera House, on its return, the orchestra commenced the grand march, to the music of which Knights and ladies, followed by the guests marched and counter-marched until, at the signal of the prompter, the music melted into a beautiful waltz and the ball had commenced.

The most perplexing problem, how to give over two hundred people supper at the usual hour, from 11 to 12 o'clock, in a room which could in no event accommodate more than twenty couples at once, remained to be solved. While not so satisfactory as could be wished, the only solution possible was agreed upon. Supper commenced at 9:30 p. m. and the fifth and last table was finished at 2:30 a. m. Owing to the fact that the eighteen couples who came from Ft. Scott were compelled to return on the special train at 2 o'clock, it became necessary to give them the preference which was done, at the sacrifice of some rights of those who held earlier numbers. But all could so easily see the necessity of this that no serious feeling was engendered.

Of the ball, in general terms, it was a success. We have yet to hear a dissenting opinion from that expressed generally, that it was the best and largest affair of the kind ever given in Iola, and, as a matter of fact, would do credit to any more pretentious city. The music, rendered by the Stephens family, of Ottawa, was excellent in every respect. Mr. J. H. Walters, the gentlemanly prompter, excelled himself, and the various committees were always on hand to see that their guests were properly cared for. Of the supper at the Pennsylvania Central Hotel, which had been so carefully arranged by Mr. Fisher and daughters, unstinted praise was given. More especially was this the case with those from a distance. Here at home expectations were high because people knew what these ladies had done and knew that they were to excel all previous efforts. But those from abroad were prepared to give an unbiased opinion, and all united in praising not only the elegance and taste but also the variety and profusion of the fare. Think for a moment of the work of preparation and then of the six hours hard work in waiting upon a hundred couples. It was a task that few could manage, and yet under the careful supervision of the ladies of the Central everything passed off pleasantly and expeditiously. So we say that ball and banquet was simply a success, no adjective being needed. It was more than a success, a triumph.

And in closing this necessarily brief and hasty description of the first annual ball of the Knights of Pythias of Iola, we beg to assure the guests of the order, that the first experience will aid in the future.—And while no one is authorized to speak for the order, yet we are satisfied that the second annual ball will be better and more complete in general details at least, than was the first.

The REGISTER job office has for a long time been the largest and best furnished job office in the county. We have just added to the stock several new fonts of new styles of job type and a font of combination border, and a large supply of bill-heads, note-heads, letter-heads, wedding cards, business cards, etc., and are prepared to do job work equal to any and at reasonable prices. We can and will compete with any fair or legitimate prices, either from home or abroad, will not attempt to compete with cut throat prices, as we are not working either for glory or the fun of the thing. Neither are we going around when our neighbors have put in offering to discount their prices. We never ask what other people's prices are but have our own, which are the same to every one. Bring on your job work and try us.

Mr. T. L. Reid has rented property at Neosho Falls and will return to that place to live.

M. of P.

The senior of the Platdealer, with his wife, in company with some twelve or fifteen others, invited guests, attended the grand banquet and ball given at Iola, last Wednesday, by the Iola lodge of the order of Knights of Pythias.

The Iola people started out with a determination to have a big time in which they succeeded most admirably. Their large, new hall was crowded to its utmost capacity. Over 130 tickets were sold, and 184 guests sat down to supper at the Pennsylvania House alone. A special train came over from Ft. Scott, bringing 20 couples to the party, besides double that number that came on the same train, for the trip, and to see Iola, and to drink at the famous mineral well. The music for the ball was furnished by the Stephens, of Ottawa, and it proved highly satisfactory. Everything was done to make the visit pleasant, and a rare, good time was enjoyed by every one.

The supper was decidedly the best of the kind that we have yet seen down to for many a day, and for which Mr. Fisher and family, of the Pennsylvania House, were highly complimented. We met many old acquaintances and kind friends, while there, and acknowledge ourselves under many obligations for kind attentions shown ourselves and our companions by Dr. John W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Bowlus, Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, of the postoffice; Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, of the REGISTER; Capt. Jones and others.

Yesterday morning, our party took a drive through and around about the city of Iola, visited the mineral well, and returned to Garnett on the 1:25 p. m. train, well pleased with our visit.—Garnett Platdealer.

The newspapers have been full for the last two weeks of the details of disastrous floods in the south-west, the greatest damage having been done in cotton growing regions below Memphis. In Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, thirty counties on the Mississippi, the Red and White rivers are more or less under water. 70,000 people have been driven from their homes and will have to be supported at public expense for the next month. Not less than 30,000 destitute sufferers are reported in Arkansas alone; rations are being issued to 18,000 in Mississippi, and the suffering must necessarily be far greater than these figures can convey. The sympathy of the whole country will be extended to those upon whom this calamity has fallen, and will take the form of substantial aid. In financial loss these freshets are a national misfortune; the thirty counties submerged are the finest cotton-growing counties in the whole south. The immense destruction of agricultural implements, houses, fences, cotton, and other necessary surroundings of cotton growing will react very disastrously upon the next crop. Senator Garland has introduced a bill into the Senate providing for the construction, completion, repairing and preservation of levees on the Mississippi river, and appropriating $16,000,000 to be expended by the Mississippi River Commission in the preservation of the channel of the river and in the prevention of such disastrous freshets in the future.—Christian Union.

Albert Griffin, of the Manhattan, Nationalist who is in Washington, writes that Congressman Haskell is too pompous to be popular; that both our senators are in bad odor, while Anderson cannot tell a lie, being the only truly good man in the delegation. Ryan, he says, stands next to And in this respect. Brother Griffin should not allow his prejudices to mar his judgment.

The final vote on the anti-polygamy bill was a convincing illustration of the power of public sentiment. Over forty Democrats, who had voted for every amendment designed to kill the bill by a side issue, when brought face to face with the main question voted for the bill or dodged.

F. M. Thomas recently traded 140 acres of land in Duck Creek township for property in Humboldt. J. O. Fife, County Attorney of Allen county, becomes the owner of the land.—Fredonia Citizen.

Mr. R. M. Gaut and wife, E. E. Varner and sister and Mr. Cliff Hlatt and sister, Mrs. Burke, attended the Iola banquet.—Colony Free Press.

We still fall to now any cases of destitution in Montgomery county. If it is necessary to beg from the eastern States, surely it should not be hidden from Kansas. Will the Tribune or some paper published in that county give us more light as to the needy condition of refugees or others. We should be pleased to see "begging" for Kansas" kept out of Chicago dailies.

They charge E. H. Funston, of Allen county, with congressional aspirations.—Topeka Capital.

He would make the best one yet mentioned from this portion of Kansas, but here at home we do not know that he is to be a candidate. Should he be in the race he will win.

From appearances we should judge the Topeka Capital edit the Wichita Leader. Or possibly the latter has no italic with which to credit articles.

Gov. St. John is very busy making temperance speeches throughout the State. It's rather early in the season but there's lots of primaries to be fixed.
